

ABOUT US

The Family, Society and Education Foundation (FASE) was created in Madrid in 1976, as an educational, charitable and cultural institution to provide support to families and schools. Its main objective is to promote entrepreneurship, social innovation and the acquisition of competences and abilities that will allow young people to be the agents of social transformation.

It develops its activities in three different areas: family, research and youth.

RESEARCH

The FASE Foundation supports the development and promotion of studies, scientific meetings, publications and investigations within the different areas of Health Sciences, Biological and Ethics. The research project "The Brain's secrets" is supervised by Dr. Natalia López Moratalla, professor of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology, it applies its studies of Neuroscience to the scopes of family and education.

FAMILY

It promotes and contributes in many projects to build a culture of solidarity and service within families.

YOUTH

Offers a platform of services, resources, activities and educational programs to different Foundations, Parent Associations and Schools that develop Young people's talent through extra-curricular activities or after school programs. Its objective is to provide these entities with the necessary help to manage and develop extra-curricular innovative activities, together with the solvency and quality needed to achieve a holistic educational environment between school, family and free-time.

STRATEGIC LINES WITHIN THE AREA OF YOUTH:

1. To innovate / update the educational projects of After School Programs.
2. To train volunteers and staff that take part in the management of the program.
3. To inspire, promote and organise programs for empowerment of girls and women within the areas of STEM and ICT to get over the genre breach.
4. Develop financing channels, management and advice to put After School Programs into practice.
